The Laws of Newspapers.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their newspapers from the offices to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled the bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publishers and the newspapers are sent to the former direction they are held responsible

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. The United States Courts have also repeatedly decided that a postmaster who neglects to perform his duty of giving reasonable notice, as required by the Post Office Department, of the neglect of a person to take from the office newspapers addressed to him, renders the Postmaster liable to the publishers for the subscription price.

Now is the time to Plant Orchards.

FRUITS, green and dried, are, and will become one of the leading staples of the Southern States; and if you do not wish to raise fruit for market, then plant an orchard to raise fruit for family use, and make home more pleasant for yourselves and friends. Send on your orders without delay, and obtain trees in time to plant them this Fall, and by so doing you will gain one year over Spring planting, and your trees will be more certain to live.

SOUTHERN RIGHTS' TICKET.

For Delegates to the State Convention,

E. A. THOMPSON,
GEO. V. STRONG.

☞ REMEMBER THAT THE ELECTION OF DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION TAKES PLACE ON THURSDAY, the 28th of FEBRUARY.

☞ REMEMBER, ALSO, THAT IN VOTING FOR DELEGATES YOU VOTE "For a Convention" or "No Convention."

The Southern Confederacy.

PRESIDENT:

Jefferson Davis, of Miss.

VICE PRESIDENT:

A. H. Stephens, of Geo.

—o—

Northern Confederacy.

PRESIDENT:

Abe Lincoln, of Ill.

VICE PRESIDENT:

Hannibal Hamlin, (FREE NIGGER)
of Maine.

☞ Citizens of North Carolina, decide ye between them!! Which will you have to preside over your glorious old State? Let your choice be known in thunder tones at the ballot-box, on Thursday, the 28th inst. Remember, freemen of North Carolina, that your votes will proclaim to the world that the good "Old North State" will take her stand with her sister Southern States, or submit to be ruled by the abolition Lincoln and the Free Negro Hamlin.

☞ Those indebted to us for subscription and advertising will please pay up immediately, as we pay cash for everything. Send in your money, gentlemen—we have no time to dun you

He's Absent.

The editor took his departure on Saturday last for the purpose of attending Edgecombe Court and to gain notoriety for the "Rough Note," of course. The editor pro tem again holds the reigns of the—of the—editorial wheels, and if any of our submission cotemporaries desire a little sport, why, let them say aught against the "Rough Notes."—There are one or two submission editors in this State that we'd like to curry a little anyhow, and if they even look cross-eyed at us during the editors absence, we'll "pitch into 'em like a thousand o' brick." So, gentlemen, if you don't want a lambasting you had better play mum this week, for—for—that's all.

☞ Now that Lincoln has arrived in Washington City, we may expect that the great humbug of the season, the Peace Congress, will come to a "focus." Throughout we believe it to be a "diabolical" farce—to prolong the time and to "watch and wait" until Lincoln could steal himself in the city between the setting and the rising of the sun, and now that the Republicans have accomplished their object we may expect that Peace Congress will be "broken up in a row." So look out for squalls—we mean among the coercionists.

☞ The communication of "Vidi," concerning the "stay Law," was received in due time, but the press on our columns prevented us from inserting it, and now that the "law" has met an ignominious defeat, and the Legislature having adjourned, we think it useless to publish it now. However, we are under many obligations to "Vidi" for his thoughts and trust that we may hear from him again. We trust "Vidi" will not censure us for not inserting his Communication, for we know him well, and know furthermore that he is a capitol writer.

☞ The Legislature of North Carolina adjourned sine die this morning. Well, we are glad of it for the people of the State will now have a chance to act for themselves, as they no doubt will do, next Thursday.

Next Thursday.

Citizens of North Carolina, on next Thursday you will be called upon to cast one of the most important votes that you ever gave. It will be a vote cast in defence of your glorious old State, or it will be a vote that will proclaim to the world that you are willing still to bow the knee to submission and degradation! Are you prepared to assert your rights as freemen, or are you prepared to bow with submission to the oppression of wrongs that have been heaped upon you and your Southern brothers by the black Republican Lincolnites of the North? The time has arrived in the history of our once glorious country when the oppressed shall proclaim their independence and beat down their oppressors even if it has to be done by powder and ball. Then to the polls, brother North Carolinians, and let our rallying cry be "Equality and Southern rights at all hazards."

The time for "watching and waiting" has gone—the time for action has arrived. The South, our own sunny South, has been oppressed for years and her citizens have not been recognized as equals with those of the North. Is this not so? Can any one say ought to the contrary? To speak the truth, they cannot. We have borne the injuries and insults long and patiently, and we proclaim that it is high time for the South, the united South, to quit the Union of injustice and flee to that Confederacy where we will be respected and where we will be recognized as equals. We asked nothing from our Northern brethren but our rights, and now that they have been rejected let us assert and maintain them. Some will perhaps ask how shall we assert our rights. The answer is plain. Let us proclain our independence by seceding from this corrupt Union and then we can join our destiny, our interest, and our sympathies with those of the Southern Confederacy—there we will be respected and there we can prosper.

What say the people of North Carolina? Will they consent to remain in an Union where we ere compelled to submit to the rule of the abolition Lincoln and the free negro Hamlin? God forbid. Rather than submit to such disgrace we would be willing for North Carolina, the State that gave us birth, to set up an independent government for herself, in which she could act, speak, and defend herself, if need be, from the black Republican yoke of tyrany.

Freemen of North Carolina, are you prepared for such disgrace? Are you prepared to proclaim by your votes on next Thursday that you prefer Abe Lincoln and the free negro Northern Confederacy, more than you do JEFFERSON DAVIS, the patriot and statesman, and the Southern Confederacy? We believe not. A few more days will decide—are you ready for the contest? If so, let us work, work—work until the sun goes down on Thursday next for Southern Rights candidates, the Southern Confederacy and a "Convention."

Be vigilant Beware of the tricks of the submission demagogues on the day of election. They will leave no stone unturned to deceive and mislead you. Be on your guard, be ever watchful.

☞ We have heard occasionally from a straggling submissionist that the talk of taking Fort Sumter was all "gas." Well, while they were in the room "expostulating" their submission sentiments, we are free to confess that there were a superabundence of *gas*atic matter in their every word; but if they could have been here on Saturday last and have seen those thirty-two brave fellows on their way to Charleston, and those "grate big" round, hollow bombs that have been going the same way, they would, no doubt, have found out that there were more "gas" about them than they imagined. It is reported that several hundred more from Baltimore will pass through Goldsboro' this week bound for the same place.

We predict that when the time arrives for South Carolina to take possession of Fort Sumter, she will do it in twenty-four hours.

MARYLAND STATE CONVENTION.—The Maryland State Convention has adjourned, subject to the call of the President, until the 12th of March, unless "Virginia should take some definite action sooner than that date."

The resolutions adopted by the Convention assert that a full and fair expression of the popular will is most likely to be had by a Convention called on the recommendation of the Governor, and that as it is now asserted that the Governor will, by proclamation, authorize such a movement, in the event of the failure upon the part of Congress and the Peace Conference to adopt any satisfactory plan of compromise, the Convention approves that purpose, and adjourns until the 12th of March to await the Governor's action; unless intermediately the State of Virginia shall secede, when the Convention is to be immediately re-assembled at the call of its President. If the Governor declines to call a "sovereign" Convention previous to the 12th proximo, then the Convention will at once recommend to the people to proceed to the election of delegates to such a Convention.

REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE ROUGH NOTES.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

The Peace Conference on Saturday night paid a visit to Lincoln, who conversed freely. He made a brief address, giving, it is said, a general outline of his policy; but said nothing directly bearing on coercion.

The Conference, in committee of the whole, subsequently agreed on Franklin's substitute as the basis of compromise. Virginia, North Carolina and Missouri voted against it.

Nothing of importance was done in the Senate on Saturday.

In the House the Oregon war bill passed. The Tariff bill was postponed until to-day.

HONEST OLD ABE'S BETTER HALF. The Cincinnati Enquirer gives the following as one of the incidents of the trip from Indianapolis to Cincinnati, on the train with Mr. Lincoln and suite:

The following scene actually occurred, and we think should be set down. A gentleman, one of the suite, we believe, while passing through the rear car, was addressed by the future mistress of the White House as follows:

Mrs. L.—How do you "flourish?"

Gentleman—Well, I thank you.

Mrs. L.—Is that a Cincinnati paper you have in your hand?

Gentleman—Yes, (passing the journal to her.)

Mrs. L.—Does it say anything about us?

The manner in which these questions were propounded was more suggestive than the interrogatories themselves. Imagine the successor of the accomplished Mrs. Madison, Mrs. Polk and Harriet Lane addressing a foreign Minister with "How do you flourish?" The "us" remind us of an anecdote of the wife of an honest Dutchman, who had unexpectedly been elevated to the position of major of the militia. When the result of the election was known, the children wanted to know if they would not all be majors. "No, you fools, indignantly replied the mother, "none but your daddie and me."

WRECK.—The wrecked schooner Harriet Newell, Capt. Samuel Keach, which left Norfolk, Va., on the 5th inst., with a cargo of 3,000 bushels of corn for Providence, R. I., off Absecom Beach, N. J., on the 7th inst., has been published. The captain, and five seamen, and Mr. Henry M. Davis, a passenger, a son of Capt. H. Davis, of Richmond city, passed the whole night of the 7th on the cabin-house, the vessel having sunk to that depth, with the waves breaking over her. They were covered with quilts only, on which the next morning the ice was four inches thick. All hands were badly frostbitten.

☞ The Navy Department has later advices giving information of the arrival of the Sabine at Pensacola. This is one of the ships belonging to the home squadron. All the national vessels are lying outside the bar. The Brooklyn had landed neither men nor provisions at Fort Pickens.

☞ It is worthy of remark that the President and Vice-President of the Southern Republic should bear the names of Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton. They sound much more like American names than Abraham, and Hannibal.

There is some hope for the country yet. Old Abe is cultivating his whiskers and kissing the girls along the route. The telegraph, however, does not inform us what Mrs. Lincoln thinks of this kissing business.

VALUABLE LAND FOR SALE.

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE low, his valuable farm, (containing about 1000 acres of good land,) lying in New Hanover County, about 30 miles north-west from Wilmington, 11 miles from Washington Depot, on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, and only four miles from Long Creek Town. The improvements on the premises consists of a fine and all necessary out-houses of a farm and a splendid well of water. About one hundred and fifty acres of the land is cleared and in a good state of cultivation and adapted to the cultivation of cotton, the rest well timbered. Two hundred acres is the very best swamp land in New Hanover county.

Two-Story Dwelling House,

The location of this farm is the best in that section. It is not only healthy, but the neighborhood is good, and is in close proximity to four churches, and only four miles from Long Creek Town, at which point all produce can be shipped to Wilmington.

Persons desirous of purchasing a good farm, should make early application to the undersigned at Wilson, N. C., or the Editor of the "Daily Rough Notes," Goldsboro'.

[Correspondence of the Rough Notes.]

CRAVEN RETREAT HALL,
Feb. 20th 1861.

Dear Rough Notes:—The folks on this side of the old Neuse take some of the city and town papers to enlighten our minds on national matters, and thus prepare ourselves to act either at the ballot box or on the "tented field."—We may not be so well posted in these affairs as you Metropolitans, but perhaps we feel as deep an interest in the nations welfare, and will show it when circumstances may give us the opportunity.

Now the way we manage is this, one takes one paper, and another takes some other paper, and we compare one with the other. In most of these we find that there is a certain settled policy laid down upon which all points are argued: or as we say here, each editor has a key-note, and everything seems to accord to that no matter which string he strikes. Some, for instance, are for Secession; others for Union, on conditions; others still for Union under any circumstances. Each gives his reasons and argues straight forward to a certain conclusion.

But there is one paper which we read, and which we like for its neat and beautiful appearance. It is the prettiest paper to look at that we see in these parts, (present company, &c.,) but it puzzles us amazingly, sometimes. You see we often get together and have a kind of friendly discussion about the affairs of the nation, and we give our reasons; and when we want to make a strong argument we quote authority, and we say:—"The Rough Notes" says so and so, or, the "Express" says so; and we used to quote the "Newbern Progress," but we were caught so often by each party claiming it on his side, that we are mighty particular now a days how we quote the Progress. The other day we were looking over a Daily Progress and we thought we could be safe in quoting it on our side this time, and we were arranging our thoughts so that we might be sure we were not mistaken. Well, we thought we had it all right, about "war to the bitter end" &c., but we found out that the Progress had changed its mind or we were not able to comprehend its meaning; so we gave up again for a while. But it turns out after all that it is trying to get right. In last Thursday issue (4th) it makes a bow, and, if we do not mistake, comes out flat footed for the "Southern Confederacy." The organization of such a respectable body, with such men chosen as Davis and Stephens has "produced the effect" desirable upon the Progress. Now, I hope you will not think us captious, it strikes us that the Progress comes in rather ungraciously, and rather upon questionable grounds. It intends to follow Stephens though it "still denounces Secession as wicked and ruinous." But Stephens leads into wickedness and to ruin. He may not be as bad a leader as his satanic majesty, though, according to the Progress, they both lead to the same awful consequences. If I were to quote the Progress in any debate with my neighbors, don't you think I would be non-suited, as the lawyers say, by my undecided friend? Would he not say, "that won't do, I don't intend to follow any man into wickedness and to ruin." So you see I am still afraid to quote the Progress, because it says, "it still believes Secession would be wicked and ruinous."

The Progress "is ready to fight with quill as a journalist, or as a soldier upon the tented field." For one I would not like to serve in a company of such men upon the battle ground, because I believe in the honor of conscience, and if a thought of the "wickedness and ruin" should occur, a panic would be sure to follow. Who could fight in such a wicked and ruinous cause!

Is it "wicked" to oppose with all our power the encroachments of that fanatical spirit which seeks to trample upon our just rights?

Is it wicked" to oppose in every way, and to the end, that dominant sectionalism which has determined to uproot and to destroy the very basis of Southern civilization and prosperity?

Is it "wicked" to stand up for our civil and political freedom? Is it "wicked" to combat with our last strength that iniquitous party which is pledged to deprive us of our property, though our firesides and altars be drenched in the blood of our wives and children? Pity the man who thus denounces the primary laws of our very being and cast a stigma upon the hallowed cause which would preserve our liberties, and our firesides and altars from bloodshed and desecration. Such a man has not yet caught the proper spirit of the present revolution—it is not a contrast for the "almighty dollar," but for liberty, equality and life. But pardon me, I am getting warm. I only meant to point out the seeming fickleness of the Progress. Is not this a strange way of commending the Southern Confederacy, and a remarkable manner of approving the "honesty, patriotism and sincerity" of Stephens? It admires the man and will follow him, though he is engaged in "wickedness" and leads to "ruin!" Save me from my friends! Then he fully believes that Virginia will add her destiny to this "wicked" scheme and "ruinous" policy, and wants North Carolina to follow Virginia! What a patriotic and christian view of the subject! The Southern Confederacy and Virginia are going to the devil and to ruin and therefore North Carolina must go too! This sort of argument won't do with neighbors; they are not fond of such company, nor relish such a final catastrophe. We thought this was rather tough, but on Monday, the 18th, he destroys his own beau ideal of an honest patriot and sincere statesman—Stephens—by classing him with "Yancey and his corrupt confederates." The "honest, patriotic and sincere" Stephens is confederated with the corrupt Yancey, Davis, Barnwell, &c., &c. And the clamor and trouble is brought upon the country because such "leaders, who have contributed so much to bring on these disasters, prefer to take their chances for promotion in a Provisional Government to taking their chances in the old one"! And, notwithstanding the assertions of all these seven States to the contrary, the causes which have led to secession are, principally—abstractions!

The high protective tariffs which have enriched the North and almost impoverished the South; the stealing of Southern property—the nullification of the Constituiion—the killing of Southern slaveholders in lawful chase and claimance of their lawful property—the murder of Southern men on their own soil—the burning of houses and poisoning of wells, and exciting insurrection among the slaves—the avowed purpose to free every slave on American soil though the land be baptised in blood—the determination of the incoming administration to lay waste the whole country by civil war, under pretext of enforcing the laws of the United States—all these are mere abstractions! This does not constitute "oppression" either, for the Progress "denies" it, and, therefore, "we ought to be satisfied with the old Government," How, queer, and how puzzling to us here in our unsophisticated greenness to hear the Progress at the tail end of all this, "demand" that the rights of the slaveholder shall be protected! Why, the slaveholder has not been "oppressed." Their fancied wrongs are mere abstractions. How lustily it begs for a compromise, an "honorable compromise." No oppression to complain of. They ought to be satisfied with the old government. A compromise on mere abstracts? Does it not tell us again that this is not impossible? There are "insuperable barriers" to a settlement and reconstruction."

Now, the Progress has a right to a private opinion and a right to express it publicly, we don't complain of this, but we want light here in our dark places, and whenever we attempt to seek it from the Progress we encounter darkness and our weak, shallow pates are so bamboozled to ascertain what is the opinion of the Progress that we are puzzled amazingly. Some of our mischievous young men say it has none and that is why we are puzzled. We wish the Progress would come out "far and squar," and not mystify us. Now, if it is for the Southern Confederacy and not for the Northern abolition Confederacy why don't it say so, without killing itself (that is its influence) with the same breath. We should like to see the Progress prospering and doing good, but if it continues this sort of arguing, we are afraid it will do neither. "It can't serve two masters and please both."

Old Craven is a constant reader of the Rough Notes, and, therefore, he has taken the liberty of writing these few lines to you for old acquaintance sake and calling these things to your remembrance—to your notice. We might have written to the Progress, but we will confess we are rather afraid to write to him because he might not like it coming from us, and we would expose our ignorance and he might laugh at us; but do, if you please say something to him about these matters. You editors can say things so softly and kindly, and you don't get mad with each other—not often. I don't think we need him in our ranks if he cant come in upon higher motives than leading us all to the——"wickedness and ruin."

Yours truly,
OLD CRAVEN.

☞The Charleston papers mention the capture of an immense Blackfish, which got aground in Asley River, on Saturday after noon. Some negroes whose attention was attacted by the stirring of the shoal-water in an extraordinary manner, went out in a boat, and slipping a noose over his head, dragged him to the dock. He was 14 feet 10 inces in length, and 8 feet around, and was an object of considerable interest and curiosity with the crowd.

GUANO! GUANO!!

FOWLES SOLUBLE PHOSPHATED PERUVIAN GUANO Having accepted the Agency of this very valuable and reliable Guano, we would call special attention of Merchants and Planters to its superiority over all other fertilizers. Its great characteristic being the promptness and permanency of its effects in which it surpasses Peruvian as imported.

The very many certificates of its great usefulness from men of high character, well known to us, together with the sterling integrity of the well known proprietors, renders the Soluble Phosphated Peruvian Guano worthy of perfect confidence.

While claiming vast superiority of this Guano over the Peruvian, we offer it at sixteen per cent less cost, viz: $50 a ton.

Moses Lacey, Esq., Lynchburg, Va., April 1858, says: "Sombrero Guano has turned out well on Oats and Wheat, so far; and friend Walton, to whom I sold some, says he would not give it pound for pound, for Peruvian."

To JOHN W. C. LSUE, Esq.,
No. 27 South-street, New York.

13*th July* 1858.—Where the Sombrero Guano was applied was as good straw as the Peruvian, and I think was as full or more plump grain.

20*th July*, 1858.—The wheat where Sombrero Guano was used weighed 62 lbs. to the bushel. The Peruvian weighed the same; No difference either in straw or grain.
ROBERT J. HUGHEY.

Phillip A. Ball, Esq., Baltimore, Md., Sept. 13, 1858, says, "The corn where Sombrero was used is vigorous, green and strong, and the balance of the field, all good soil, looks sun-burnt and drooping. I wish you to send me ten tons."

FACTS WORTH KNOWING.

GUANOS are of two kinds—those in which Ammonia predominates, as in Peruvian, and those in which the Phosphates of Lime, &c., predominate, as in Sombrero, and others.—Both experience and theory establish the fact, that Ammonia and Phosphate of Lime are essential ingredients for a general fertilizer, and consequently, for general purposes, a proper mixture of the two is recommended. Whilst the Peruvian and other ammoniated Guanos are mere stimulants or quickeners of the soil, the Sombrero Guano is a permanent fertilizer, but of slower action and less perceptible effect the first year, unless aided by some stimulant. Hence the great importance of combining the two in proper proportions, which, if done, makes the best, most convenient and economical fertilizer known. Assuming the cost of Peruvian Guano at $60, and Sombrero at $30 per ton, and with one quarter of the former and three-quarters of the latter, (which proportions are recommended by experienced farmers,) it gives, at a cost of $37,50 per ton, a fertilizer far more valuable and permanent than the Peruvian alone. The agriculturist need only be reminded of the nature of the two predominating ingredients in these different species of Guano to enable him to understand the proper mode of its application. Whilst Ammonia (in the Peruvian) is liable to evaporate or rise, Phosphate of Lime (in the Sombrero) is heavy, and liable to sink below the reach of the roots of plants; therefore it should be either deposited in the hill or drill, with the crop, or used as a top dressing, in the proportion of 300 or 400 lbs., to the acre, according to the wants of the soil. If the two Guanos are combined and used as a top dressing, the spring is the best time, when the crop is assuming its sustenance and vigor, as at that time the benefit of the Ammonia is less likely to be lost than if used in the fall or early winter.
